CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Shalom Rosenfeld: head of Journalism Studies Program and the Institute for Research of the Jewish Press, Tel Aviv University; a founder of Ma'ariv and its editor in chief, 1974-80.

Moshe Zak: journalist and publicist; past editor of Ma'ariv.

Dr. Avner Levi: lecturer, Asian-African Institute of the Hebrew University, Jerusalem; specialist on Turkish Jewry.

Shmuel Katz: a former leader of the Zionist Revisionist movement and member of the Etzel command; secretary to Ze'ev Jabotinsky; member of the first Knesset; author of books and studies on the Arab-Israeli conflict and the rights of the Jews to Eretz Yisrael.

Prof. Aryeh Shmuelevitz: member of the department of Middle Eastern and African history, Tel Aviv University; specialist in the history of the Ottoman Empire; head of unit for special programs at the university.

Nama Tarabulus: domestic news editor, Jewish weekly Shalom, Istanbul.

Yitzhak Bezaile: editor of Pe’amim, quarterly on Eastern Jewish history.

Dr. Sha'ul Sehayik: Iraqi-born leader of the Zionist underground in that country; graduate, Military Academy of Iraq; immigrated to Israel in 1942; took up academic studies in the 1970s, acquiring a Ph.D. at the Hebrew University at age 75.

Hayim Shur: editor, New Outlook, 1982-93; past editor, Al Hamishmar.

Dr. Luis Roniger: senior lecturer, sociology and anthropology department, Hebrew University, Jerusalem, specializing in comparative and historical sociology; books include Patrons, Clients and Friends, with S. N. Eisenstadt (1984), and Hierarchy and Trust in Modern Mexico and Brazil (1990).

Dr. Mordecai Naor: lecturer in journalism, Tel Aviv University; author and editor of books on the history of Eretz Yisrael; editor of Qesbet.

Dr. Ilana Kedmi: literature researcher; director, Mehman Library of the Institute for the Research of the Diaspora, Tel Aviv University.

Yaakov Ahimeir: Israel TV, Jerusalem.