CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Shalom Rosenfeld: Head of Journalism Studies Program and the Institute for Research of the Jewish Press, Tel Aviv University; a founder of Ma'ariv and its editor in chief, 1974-80.

Yehiel Limor: Senior teaching fellow, New School of Communications, Academic Program, College of Business Management, Tel Aviv; senior lecturer, Communications and Journalism Department, Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Chief Justice (ret.) Meir Shamgar: Former president of the Israel Supreme Court.

Dr. Steven Cassedy: University of California, San Diego.

Dr. Menahil Gilboa: Senior lecturer, Department of Hebrew Literature, Tel Aviv University; researcher of the Hebrew Studies Program.

Ze’ev Goldberg: Research student, Department of Yiddish, Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Gad Nishman: Journalist specializing in America.

Dr. Avner Holtzman: Senior lecturer, Department of Hebrew Literature, Tel Aviv University; director, Mishu Josef Berdyezewski Archive, Holon.

Natan Cohen: Research student, Department of Yiddish, Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Avraham Karpinovitch: Author and journalist.

Prof. Moshe Perli: Professor of Hebrew literature and head of the Hebrew Studies Program, University of Central Florida, Orlando; specializes in Hebrew Haskala literature.

Zvi Lachter: Former secretary, Zionist Federation of Novi Sad, Yugoslavia; former editor of the weekly Yiddische Tsaytung (1936-39); head of the Historical Committee of the Yugoslavian Immigrants Association, Israel; retired ambassador and longtime civil servant, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Israel.

Dr. Dan Almogor: Lyricist; translator and researcher of Hebrew literature and language and the milieu of Eretz Yisrael in the modern period.

Dov Genhovsky: Editor and economic columnist, Yediot Aharonot; researcher of history of Jerusalem.